Please note that your award estimates should be used as a guide to help you understand likely ranges for student aid and to assist in the final selection of an appropriate college. Award estimates are subject to change based on regulations, federal/state appropriations, any changes in your financial circumstances, and other factors.

We use the information you provided to determine your eligibility for student aid and your award estimates. The accuracy reflected in your College Cost & Planning Report is based on the data set you selected to calculate your Expected Family Contribution (EFC).

This report is not either of the following:

- A guarantee of the type of aid the student is going to receive for any particular academic year
- A bargaining tool to try to receive a more favorable financial aid award package from a college or institution

Dear Alejandra,

Welcome to your *College Cost & Planning Report™ – custom-prepared for you!

We are thrilled to provide this report to help you select the college that is best for your career goals and your family's budget. At StudentAid.com, we believe that the smartest college choices are made when individuals are well informed and understand ahead of time their out-of-pocket (net) college costs.

Your report includes:

1. A personalized college-planning timeline to help manage deadlines and key tasks
2. Detailed profiles of your colleges of interest
3. Estimates of the type and amount of student aid that you are eligible to receive
4. Side-by-side net cost comparisons to help you select an affordable college
5. A worksheet for evaluating which colleges are best for you – we even tell you how many miles you'll be from home!

You may rerun this report at any time. Take the opportunity to select additional colleges, update your financial circumstances, and/or reassess your eligibility for student aid. Simply log in to your My Activity section of the StudentAid.com website, or for more personal assistance call a Student Aid Advisor toll-free 1-877-987-6711.

We wish you the very best of success in pursuing your college dreams!

Sincerely,

The StudentAid.com Advisor Team

STEP 3: UNDERSTAND THE AFFORDABILITY OF EACH COLLEGE

3.1 How Student Aid Works

3.2 How Much Student Aid Is Available?

$145B*

Each year, students and families receive over $145 billion dollars to help finance their college education.

It is important to understand that funding a college education requires a reliance on many sources. Federal and state governments, colleges, employers, and private organizations all provide funding to help you ease the financial burden of paying for college.

This report provides detailed planning information to help you understand the types and amount of awards that you may be eligible to receive. The following pages will give you the information you need to explore all the available sources of student aid and make an informed decision on financing your education.

STEP 4: REVIEW YOUR ELIGIBILITY FOR STUDENT AID PROGRAMS

4.1 Federal Student Aid

The federal government annually provides over $80 billion of student aid. Based on the colleges that you have selected and your personal circumstances, we have evaluated your eligibility for each program. Below is a more detailed explanation of the federal programs and your likely awards.

Note: Many colleges DO NOT participate in every federal student aid program. For example, if you selected a school that does not participate in the Perkins Loan Program, you will NOT receive a Perkins Loan even if you meet the program eligibility requirements. Use the table to understand the program participation at your selected colleges.

Your Estimated Award

The estimated awards are presented as a range when the amount you are eligible to receive varies based on your selected colleges.

Refer to your side-by-side net cost comparison table on page 30 to see aggregated award amounts specific to each college.

Pell Grant

- The Federal Pell Grant Program offers aid to undergraduates based on need. Approximately 5,400 postsecondary institutions participate in this program.
- The award amount is based on your EFC, cost of attendance, and enrollment status.
- Pell eligibility is a prerequisite for many other aid programs.

Your Estimated
Award:
$4,600

Academic Competitiveness Grant

- The Academic Competitiveness Grant (ACG) Program awards aid to undergraduates enrolled at least half-time. Students must be first- and second-year students who have successfully completed a rigorous high school course of study.
- The maximum award amount for a first-year student is $750; a second-year student may receive up to $1,300.
- Eligibility is limited to Federal Pell Grant recipients.

Your Estimated
Award:
$750

SMART Grant

- Based on the information provided, Alejandra does not meet the preliminary eligibility requirements to receive the National Science & Mathematics Access to Retain Talent (SMART) Grant.
- The National Science & Mathematics Access to Retain Talent (SMART) Grant is awarded to full-time, third- and fourth-year undergraduates.
- You must be pursuing a major in physical, life, or computer sciences, mathematics, technology, engineering, or critical language to be eligible.
- Eligibility is limited to Federal Pell Grant recipients.

Your Estimated
Award:
Not Eligible

Stafford Subsidized Loan

- The Stafford Subsidized Loan is available to students who demonstrate financial need and enroll at least half-time. Annual limits vary depending on your grade level.
- Each college participates in either the Direct Loan or the FFEL Program. Please visit www.studentaid.com/loanfaqs for more information. You will be required to complete a Master Promissory Note (MPN), which is available from your school's financial aid office or online.
- The interest rate for this loan during the 2009-10 academic year is 5.6%. The government pays the interest on this loan while you are enrolled.
- Repayment of your Stafford Loan begins 6 months after you graduate or drop below half-time enrollment.

Your Estimated
Award:
$1,425 - $3,500

Stafford Unsubsidized Loan

- The Stafford Unsubsidized Loan is available to students who enroll at least half-time. Annual limits vary depending on your grade level.
- Each college participates in either the Direct Loan or the FFEL Program. Please visit www.studentaid.com/loanfaqs for more information. You will be required to complete a Master Promissory Note (MPN), which is available from your school's financial aid office or online.
- The interest rate for this loan during the 2009-10 academic year is 6.8%. You are responsible for all interest accrued.
- Repayment of your Stafford Loan begins 6 months after you graduate or drop below half-time enrollment.

Your Estimated Award:
$0 - $2,000

Perkins Loan

- The Federal Perkins Loan Program provides low-interest student loans based on financial need.
- The interest rate for a Perkins Loan is 5.0%, and the government pays the interest on this loan while you are enrolled.
- Repayment for the Perkins Loan begins 9 months after you graduate or drop below half-time enrollment. If you are enrolled less than half-time, see your school to find out when repayment begins.

Your Estimated Award:
$0 - $3,835

Federal Work-Study

- The Federal Work-Study (FWS) Program offers part-time employment to pay educational expenses while you are enrolled in school.
- FWS is available to students who demonstrate financial need.
- The school will determine your FWS award.

Your Estimated Award:
$0 - $3,000

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (FSEOG)

- The Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (FSEOG) is a need-based grant awarded to students with the lowest EFCs.
- Priority for the FSEOG is given to Federal Pell Grant recipients.
- Eligible students can receive up to $4,000 a year.

Your Estimated Award:
$0 - $2,000

TEACH Grant

- The TEACH Grant provides awards to students who intend to teach primary or secondary education in a public or private school that serves students from low-income families.
- You must commit to teach full-time for a minimum of 4 academic years.
- This grant award will be converted to a Federal Stafford Unsubsidized Loan if you fail to complete the TEACH commitment.

Your Estimated Award:
$4,000

PLUS Loan

- The PLUS Loan is available to parents of dependent undergraduates. Parents must complete a Master Promissory Note and not have an adverse credit history.
- Your parent can borrow up to the full cost of attendance, minus any other financial aid you receive.
- The interest rate for PLUS Loans is 7.9% for Direct Lending Schools and 8.5% for schools that participate in the FFELP program. The parent is responsible for all accrued interest.
- Your parent has a choice of 2 repayment options: either 60 days after the loan is fully disbursed or 6 months after you drop below half-time enrollment status.
- If your parent does not qualify, you may borrow more with the Stafford Unsubsidized Loan. First and second year students can borrow an additional $4,000 and third- and fourth year students can borrow an additional $5,000.

Your Estimated
Award:

$0 - $29,928

Are you eligible?

The eligibility requirements for student aid can vary between programs. For example, some programs use your financial data to determine eligibility, while others use merit components like grade point average or standardized test scores. To learn more about your eligibility for student aid programs, visit www.studentaid.com/eligibility.

4.2 State Student Aid: California

During the 2007-08 academic year, there was over $10.2 billion awarded by state higher education organizations. Most of the state programs are available only to students who attend a college within their state of residence. To be considered for state-based aid, you should consider at least one in-state college.

California State Residency Requirements

- You must be attending a California college and meet the following criteria:
- You must have lived in California for at least one year prior to the first day of classes.
- You must demonstrate the intent to establish permanent residency in CA. Examples are paying CA income taxes or possessing a CA driver's license.

Residency requirements may vary for different loans, scholarships, or tuition rates.

The following programs award the largest amount of aid in the state of California. This section of the report provides detailed information and shows your eligibility to receive funds from these programs.

Cal Grant A

Cal Grant A awards can be used for tuition and fees ONLY. This award does not require repayment. You may receive the Cal Grant A for up to 4 years or until completion of your first bachelor's degree.

Your Estimated Award:

$3,047 - $5,309

Total Aid Awarded Yearly:	$285 M
Total # of Recipients:	50,248
Maximum Award:	$9,708

- Alejandra meets the preliminary eligibility requirements to receive the Cal Grant A subject to the following:
- To be eligible for this grant, you must earn at least a 3.0 cumulative GPA.
- The award amount you are eligible for will vary depending on your school. You may receive up to $2,772 at a CSU institution, $6,636 at a UC institution, and $9,708 at a private college. The award amounts are subject to change each year.
- You may be eligible for both the Cal Grant A and Cal Grant B awards, but will only receive aid from one program. If eligible for both, you will be asked to make a selection between the two. The Cal Grant B award is limited during your first year, but it increases to an award greater than the Cal Grant A for each subsequent year. Contact the financial aid office to determine which Cal Grant is best for you.
- You must have been a resident of CA at the time of your high school graduation.

For further information about Cal Grant A, call (916) 526-7900.

Cal Grant B

Cal Grant B offers assistance to low-income students and does not require repayment. The financial aid award for the first year is limited to covering book(s), supplies, and room and board. However, each subsequent academic year, the student will receive additional funds to pay for tuition and fees. It is renewable for up to 4 years or until completion of your first bachelor's degree.

Your Estimated Award:

$1,551

To learn more about California state grant programs, visit www.studentaid.com/stateaid/CA.

Total Aid Awarded Yearly: $470 M
Total # of Recipients: 144,172
Maximum Award: $11,259

- Alejandra meets the preliminary eligibility requirements to receive the Cal Grant B subject to the following:
- To be eligible for this grant, you must earn at least a 2.0 cumulative GPA.
- Your first-year award amount is $1,551. For your second year and beyond, the Cal Grant B award amount will increase to help cover your tuition and fees. The award amount is subject to change each year.
- You may be eligible for both the Cal Grant A and B awards, but will only receive aid from one program. If eligible for both, you will have the option to choose between the two. The Cal Grant B award is limited during your first year, but it increases to an amount greater than the Cal Grant A for each subsequent year. Contact an administrator at your college's financial aid office to determine which Cal Grant is best for you.
- You must have been a resident of CA at the time of your high school graduation.
 For further information about Cal Grant B, call (916) 526-7900.

Assumption Program of Loans for Education (APLE)

The Assumption Program of Loans for Education (APLE) was created to encourage individuals to pursue teaching in one of California's subject areas with a critical shortage. It is a loan-forgiveness program that may assume up to $19,000 in outstanding educational loan balances.

Your Estimated Award:
Not Eligible

Total Aid Awarded Yearly: $36.6 M
Total # of Recipients: 11,932
Maximum Award: $5,000

- Based on the information provided, Alejandra does not meet the preliminary eligibility requirements to receive the Assumption Program of Loans for Education (APLE).
- To apply for this program you must submit an APLE application to the coordinator at your school. Your school will then review your application, and if selected, will submit a nomination to the California Student Aid Commission. The Commission must receive your nomination by September 30th. Please check with your specific institution for their priority deadline. Applications are available at your institution or at www.studentaid.com/stateaid/CA.
- APLE participants must have completed 60 semester/90 quarter units.
- You must agree to teach in a CA public school for at least 4 years, in subject areas identified as having a critical teacher shortage or in designated schools that meet teacher-shortage criteria established by the Superintendent of Public Institution.
- You must be approved to receive or have already received an educational loan.
 For further information about Assumption Program of Loans for Education (APLE), call (888) 224-7268.

Cal Grant C

Cal Grant C funds are awarded to students enrolled at a California community college, independent college, or vocational school. You may receive this award for up to two years.

Your Estimated Award:
$0 - $1,912

Total Aid Awarded Yearly: $8.5 M
Total # of Recipients: 8,188
Maximum Award: $3,168

To learn more about California state grant programs, visit www.studentaid.com/stateaid/CA.

- Alejandra meets the preliminary eligibility requirements to receive the Cal Grant C subject to the following:
- You must have been a resident of CA at the time of your high school graduation.
For further information about Cal Grant C, call (916) 526-7900.

4.3 Other Sources of Student Aid

There is far more student aid available than the estimates we provide from federal and state sources. Over $39 billion in student aid is provided by colleges, employers and private organizations. This pool of funds represents over 27% of total aid available on an annual basis and plays an important role in helping students and families pay for college.

College-Specific Student Aid

College-specific student aid is an important source of funds to help students pay their higher education expenses. Many colleges use a portion of their endowment funds to help students cover their cost of attendance. Eligibility requirements for these programs tend to vary significantly.

Each college establishes their own awarding criteria and packaging policies. Some colleges have developed financial aid policies that limit or eliminate loans which substantially reduce costs for students and families. If a college shares their eligibility and awarding criteria, we determine your eligibility for college-specific aid in your side-by-side net cost comparison table on page 30.

For colleges that don't share this information, we provided prior year college-specific aid estimates as a guide for how that will impact your out-of-pocket costs.

Almost a third of first-year, full-time, degree-seeking students receive college-specific student aid awards.

Employer Student Aid

Many companies offer employer grants in the form of tuition assistance programs or supplemental compensation for their employees.

$6.1 B

Employers spent over six billion dollars to help their employees pay for higher education.

Employers are offering tuition reimbursement in order to prepare younger employees to succeed retirees, as well as implementing new training programs and flexible work schedules in an effort to retain talented seasoned employees. Some companies also extend benefits to employees who have dependents pursuing higher education.

Talk to the human resources representative at your place of employment to find out if your company offers these forms of student aid.

Private Student Aid

The total amount of private student aid available is spread across nearly 5,000 scholarship and grant providers. Community foundations, service organizations, educational trusts, and independent donors are a few examples of the various private student aid providers.

Eligibility requirements for private student aid often include unique student characteristics that are not considered by other forms of aid. Age, intended major, organization membership, and disability are some of the more prevalent eligibility criteria. The large number of providers and wide variety of eligibility requirements can make this segment very confusing.

About 1 in 15 undergraduate college students receive an estimated average of $1,982 in private student aid.

Parents too often assume that their child will receive plenty of privately funded grants/scholarships, but for the majority of students, this is not the case. Comparatively, private student aid is a relatively small amount of funds distributed across a large number of students, but it is definitely worthwhile to investigate private sources of student aid!

Looking for more aid?

Many students rely on private grants and scholarships as another source of aid. Although privately funded student aid represents a limited amount of funds, it is definitely worth exploring. Visit www.studentaid.com/privatescholarships for resources that will help you search for private grants and scholarships.

4.4 Tax-Based Student Aid Programs

Higher education tax benefits can be substantial and come in three forms: credits, deductions, and savings incentive programs. This is relevant to you because last year, 27% of eligible tax filers did not take advantage of these tax-deferred benefits. People often overlook this form of aid because they don't realize the financial gain until they file their taxes the following year.

$7.1B

Families receive over seven billion dollars of student aid in the form of education tax benefits on an annual basis.

How do you know if you're eligible?

First, you must have qualified education expenses. The following items are qualified education expenses for both tax credit programs and the Tuition and Fees deduction:

1. Tuition
2. Course-related expenses
3. Mandatory student activity fees

Additionally, the following items are qualified education expenses for the student loan interest deduction:

4. Room and board
5. Other necessary expenses

Second, you must meet several other eligibility requirements. The following questionnaire will help you determine which programs you may be eligible for.

Tax-Based Aid Eligibility Questionnaire

American Opportunity Tax Credit:

Up to $2,500

You can receive a refund up to $1,000 for this tax credit if you owe less than $1,000 in taxes.

Will you be enrolled at least half-time?

Yes No

If single, will your income be less than $80,000?

Yes No

OR If married and filing jointly, will your income be less than $160,000?

If you answered "Yes" to all of the applicable American Opportunity Tax Credit questions above, it is likely that you will qualify for this tax credit!

Lifetime Learning Tax Credit:

Up to $2,000

Will you be enrolled in a college or professional development course?

Yes No

If single, will your income be less than $58,000?

Yes No

OR If married and filing jointly, will your income be less than $116,000?

If you answered "Yes" to all of the applicable Lifetime Learning questions above, it is likely that you will qualify for this tax credit!

Tuition and Fees Tax Deduction:

Up to $800*

Will you be enrolled in at least one course at an institution of higher education?

Yes No

If single, will your income be less than $80,000?

Yes No

OR If married and filing jointly, will your income be less than $160,000?

If you answered "Yes" to all of the applicable Tuition and Fees questions above, it is likely that you will qualify for this tax deduction!

The maximum tuition and fees deduction is $4,000. This is the equivalent of up to a $800 reduction in your tax liability, depending on your federal tax bracket.*

Student Loan Interest Deduction:

Up to $500*

Will you be paying interest on a loan that has been solely used to pay for education expenses?

Yes No

If single, will your income be less than $70,000?

Yes No

OR If married and filing jointly, will your income be less than $140,000?

If you answered "Yes" to all of the applicable Student Loan Interest questions above, it is likely that you will qualify for this tax deduction!

The maximum student loan interest deduction is $2,500. This is the equivalent of up to a $500 reduction in your tax liability, depending on your federal tax bracket.*

Is it possible to claim multiple benefits?

Your family may claim a American Opportunity Tax Credit, a Lifetime Learning Tax Credit, and a Tuition and Fees Tax Deduction if the following three conditions are satisfied:

1. You don't claim more than one benefit for the same qualifying education expense(s).
2. You don't use the same student as the basis for each credit.
3. You only take one Lifetime Learning Tax Credit per family.

In addition to the tax credits, you may claim the student loan interest deduction each year that you pay interest on a qualified student loan.

STEP 5: EVALUATE WHICH COLLEGE IS THE BEST FIT FOR YOU

Now that you and your family have reviewed this report, you've taken a huge step towards finding the best college for you! This section summarizes key decision criteria that will help you to better evaluate your options. Carefully consider the affordability of each college. It's also important to compare colleges based on other criteria, like admissions standards, location, and personal fit.

It's a good idea to use a pencil to fill out the chart! Your options may change as you visit each campus and learn more about the colleges that you are interested in attending.

Safety, Match or Reach?

The admissions process is competitive and students are applying to more colleges today than ever before. It's important to apply to different types of colleges to ensure that you have several options to choose from. You should consider applying to colleges in each of the following three categories:

Safety colleges: admissions standards are slightly lower than your grades and test

Match colleges: admissions standards match your grades and test scores

Reach colleges: admissions standards are slightly higher than your grades and test scores

Use the information on the chart below to select your top three colleges:

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

COLLEGE COST & PLANNING REPORT GUIDE

Can you suggest any other colleges that may be a good match for me?

Yes! Our College Suggestor™ can help you find alternatives based on the ones you have already chosen. Tell us the name of one or more colleges that you are interested in, and we'll tell you what colleges other students (just like you) have considered. Visit www.studentaid.com/collegesuggestor to try it out. If you find other colleges that interest you, simply order another College Cost & Planning Report™ so you can compare the affordability of each option.

How do I improve my chances of getting student aid?

We highly recommend that you file your FAFSA and other applications early in order to meet any published deadlines and maximize your eligibility for student aid. It is also important to stay academically competitive and get involved in extra-curricular activities. This will help you qualify for merit-based grants and scholarships. Merit-based programs consider criteria like your grades, standardized test scores, and extracurricular activities to determine eligibility.

Which college is the most affordable?

Reviewing your side-by-side net cost comparison chart on page 30 of this report will help you understand which college is the most affordable. Your award package will likely vary at each college, and this comparison chart will provide a reliable estimate of your out-of-pocket expenses.

How do I choose the best college for me?

There is a lot to consider when you are selecting your best college match. In addition to understanding affordability, you should take into account criteria related to admissions standards, location, and personal fit. See page 44 for a comparison chart that will help you evaluate each of your selected college(s).

What are the next steps that I need to take to secure the estimated student aid?

1. Apply early! The FAFSA application is required for all federal and most state and college aid programs. If you plan to attend college in the upcoming school year, you can apply as early as January 1st. Use your personalized timeline on page 4 to keep track of any state deadlines and information regarding additional required forms.
2. Compare your award letters. Once you've been accepted to a college, administrators will determine your eligibility and provide a package of student aid awards. Comparing your award letters will help you understand the net cost of attending each college.
3. Accept your awards. Making a decision is the hard part. After you've selected a college, return your award letter to notify the financial aid office of which student aid offers you would like to accept. For additional information on your next steps, visit www.studentaid.com/nextsteps.

How do I choose the best loan for me?

In general, federal student and parent loans will be your best option. Each loan is likely to have different interest rates, repayment terms, and borrowing limits, making it challenging to decide which loan is best for you. Visit www.studentaid.com/loans for additional information on how to choose the best loan.

Assumptions Used in Compiling This Report

General eligibility requirements:

Many financial aid programs require students to meet certain eligibility requirements to qualify for aid. In developing this report, we assume that you have met, or will meet, the following criteria:

- ✓ You are a U.S. citizen or an eligible non-citizen.
- ✓ You meet your state's residency requirement.
- ✓ You are not currently in default on a federal student loan and don't owe overpayment on a federal student grant.
- ✓ You will meet and maintain your college's satisfactory academic progress (SAP) requirements.
- ✓ You are in compliance with the federal selective service regulations.
- ✓ You are not currently incarcerated in a penal institution and have not committed any felonies.
- ✓ You meet all of the deadlines associated with each student aid program.

Please note that:

- ✓ We developed this report assuming you are not going to receive any outside awards, as these sources of aid will reduce your need and eligibility for need-based aid programs.
- ✓ We have included the PLUS Loan in your report to demonstrate all the types of aid available to you/your family. If interested in this program, parents can borrow money on the Student's behalf to take advantage of the program's competitive interest rates and conditions. Parents with certain adverse credit histories cannot participate in this program.
- ✓ We calculated your estimated monthly payment after graduation using an interest rate of 7% and a 10 year repayment period. We also assume that the annual costs at each college for the duration of your degree will increase at the same rate that they have over the past three years.

Important Disclosures

Estimates and planning ranges contained within this report are based on historical and current data available from a wide variety of sources, are specific only to the student noted on the front cover of this report, and are based on information that has been provided to StudentAid.com. These estimates should be used as a guide to help a student or user understand likely ranges for student aid and to assist in the final selection of an appropriate college. While all care has been taken to produce estimates that are accurate based on the information provided to us by the student or user, federal and state agencies, non-profit entities, and postsecondary institutions are subject to change without notice, potentially rendering these estimates inaccurate. Information contained within this document is subject to change based on a variety of factors, including federal and state legislation changes, federal and state regulatory changes from administrative agencies (e.g. U.S. Department of Education and state higher education authorities), changes in Title IV eligibility at the institution that you are interested in attending, and/or changes in the financial aid awarding techniques used by the institution that you are interested in attending. It is the responsibility of the user to check with his/her state's and/or educational institution's student aid administrators to determine their exact student aid policies, procedures, requirements, and deadlines, including individual FAFSA filing deadlines, and for complying with those policies.
